Intracerebral Hemorrhage—New Developments in a Bad Disease, Monday, August 8, 5:00 pm

Dr. Julian T. Hoff, professor and immediate past Chair of Neurosurgery, and Dr. Lewis B. Morgenstern, Director of the Stroke Program, (and son of UC resident Frieda Morgenstern) will discuss bleeding strokes. Their talk, rescheduled from June, will consider the very latest in diagnosis and treatment of intra-cerebral hemorrhage, including new medications and surgical technology.

Liszt Extravaganza

Thursday, August 11, 7:30 pm

Pianist Joel Hastings has been a favorite of UC residents ever since his participation in the dedication of the restored Steinway. In preparation for an upcoming recording session, he will present this concert of transcriptions and paraphrases by Franz Liszt. Don't miss this opportunity to hear a world-class performer, of whom the Dallas Morning News said, "The kinetic fingers of this young Canadian reminded me strongly of his late countryman, Glenn Gould."

Downtown Ann Arbor Historical Street Exhibit Program

Monday, August 15, 5:00 pm

What are those glass panels around downtown? How did they come to be? What are they all about? Louisa Pieper, armed with a Master of Landscape Architecture degree from UM, was the Historic Preservation Coordinator for the City of Ann Arbor from 1975 to 1999. Some will remember her from the tour of the UM Detroit Observatory, where she is a docent, or from her History of Ann Arbor series for the Learning in Retirement program. A popular speaker, Louisa is involved with many history-related organizations and projects around town.

Return of the Re-Source Ensemble and the Four Composers

Tuesday, August 16, 8:00 pm

Many UC residents will remember the very exciting concert presented by this group in June. The four graduate student composers include one new composer, and the works will be performed by an ensemble, by singers, and by violin and piano.

Piano and Cello Concert

Sunday, August 21, 4:00 pm

Pianist Veena* Kulkarni and cellist Eileen Brownell will present an afternoon of evocative music. The program begins with Couperin and then transposes the lyrics of Toni Morrison (with a guest soprano), set by the multifaceted Andre Previn. Music of Glazunov follows, with Cesar Franck's famous A Major Sonata as the grand finale. Both Veena* and Eileen will be familiar to UC audiences, as each has played here several times.

An Overview of the DNR and its Waterloo Recreation Area

Monday, August 22, 5:00 pm

Shannon Hanna, who is a wildlife technician at the Waterloo Recreation Area, will give an overview of the work of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, with special emphasis on the Wildlife Division and how her job fits into the big picture.

Parallel Trends: An Overview of Modern Dance and its Development Within Universities Wed., August 24, 5:00 pm

Prof. Jessica Fogel will give a talk on the history of the UM Department of Dance, its parallels to trends in the larger field of modern dance over the course of several decades, and the place of dance as a discipline of study with the academy. She joined the UM faculty in 1985, and is the daughter of UC resident Charlotte Fogel.

Piano Recital and Welcome Back Party

Sunday, August 28, 3:00 pm

Chuck Kelly is hosting Jaiyin Shen's farewell recital, as the brilliant young pianist departs for study at the Peabody Conservatory at Johns Hopkins University, after which she hopes to return to Ann Arbor. Members of the Shakespeare Study Group are using the occasion as an official welcome back for Diane Kirkpatrick, and Nicole Wiley will coordinate an ice cream and fruit pie social following the recital.
